New billing class asked in plea for Illinois Power rate increase

A new classification for rating electric bills of some residential customers is sought in a petition by the Illinois Power Co., asking the Illinois Commerce Commission to raise electric power rates 23 percent. Carl Mathias, Granite City area service manager, announced here Friday.

The petition seeking a rate increase that would generate an additional $115 million per year in revenue was filed with the ICC in Springfield Friday.

The company is not asking an increase in gas rates.

The petition proposes a large-use residential Service Classification 3.

This is a rate with "time-of-day" provisions for large residential customers who use more than 150 kilowatt hours per day during the summer months, Mathias said.

The proposed "on-peak" period is from 10 a.m. through 9 p.m. Central Standard time, Monday through Friday. All other hours are considered "off-peak" with a lower charge for electricity used during this time.

In the new filing, the company is also proposing "time-of-day" provisions for industrial customers presently served on Service Classifications 21 and 24.

If the Commission takes the full time allowed by state law to review testimony and hear cross-examination from the company, intervening parties and the ICC staff, the proposed electric rates would go into effect in July, 1981.

If the entire increase is granted, the customers of Illinois Power Company

Area tax bills to be mailed this week

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

Quad-City area residents will receive their tax bills from the county this week, but will have an extra 30 days to pay them, according to Madison County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus.

Henkhaus said an effort is being made to ease the sting of the taxes by giving taxpayers an extra 30 days to make their final payment, "mainly because of the economy and the amount of people on fixed incomes."

No penalties will be charged on the first installment until after Sept. 22, and the final installment will be due by Nov. 23. Penalties will begin the following day on the unpaid balance. If the taxes are not paid by Dec. 31, the delinquent properties will be put up for sale at the county's annual tax sale.

Crews in the treasurer's office worked throughout the weekend to prepare tax bills and the bills are being mailed as they are completed. All or nearly all of the bills should be mailed this week, Henkhaus said.

The bills are being mailed late this year because about 11,000 homeowners filed complaints about the assessed valuation of their homes and had to be given hearings before the county's Board of Review before the tax bills could be prepared.

About two-thirds of the tax bills are being mailed to homeowners and the other one-third are being mailed to financial institutions which pay the taxes from escrow accounts maintained by the homeowners, the treasurer said.

A trial program is underway in four townships, including Granite City and Venice townships, to try and speed collections.

Return envelopes, addressed to the county treasurer's office, are being enclosed with the tax bills for residents of Granite City, Venice, Godfrey and Edwardsville townships, encouraging the taxpayers to mail their payments directly to the treasurer's office in Edwardsville, bypassing the township tax collectors.

Bills also may be paid at banks or to

Boy, 17, stabbed fatally

Edward M. Stern, 17, of 1902 Fifth St., Madison, died of a stab wound to the chest in the 1900 block of Fourth Street in Madison.

Madison County Deputy Coroner William Sternberg pronounced young Stern dead at the scene at 2:50 a.m. Friday.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. and Rosalie Stern.

Police are holding Stanley Wells, 18, of 1907 Fourth St., Madison, on charges of murder, voluntary manslaughter and armed violence, contained in informational documents issued by the state's attorney's office.

Major Fred Bright, of the Madison County Sheriff's department, said that apparently an argument had taken place among several young people, which broke out into a fight in which Wells allegedly stabbed Mr. Stern time in the chest with a large knife. Wells is being held in the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Stern are listed in today's obituary column.

Overpass easement agreement approved

Bids will be opened Tuesday for construction of a service road from 20th Street to Sidener Supply Co., 19th and Adams streets, resolving the final legal tangle which threatened to delay construction of the 19th Street overpass between West Granite and downtown.

An agreement with Sidener Supply Co., 19th and Adams streets, has been approved by the Granite City Council, transferring ownership of a strip of land to Sidener for an access road to that business.

The overpass cut off Sidener's 19th Street entrance and Lawrence Sidener threatened to file a lawsuit unless a new access to the business was provided. Since a lawsuit could have delayed construction of the overpass, the city agreed to obtain property for a new access to the business and to construct a blacktop roadway from 20th Street to Sidener Supply buildings.

The land was acquired May 6 from the Granite City School District in return for a promise by the city of additional trash pickups at various schools.

A strip 30 feet wide and 301 feet long, located west of the school district's warehouses at 20th and Adams streets, is being transferred to Lawrence and Isabelle Sidener and Lesco Service, Inc., owner of the Sidener Supply.

The city is to construct a blacktop roadway the full width and length of the strip and will provide six-foot tall chain link fencing and two gates at the railroad spur.

Bids for that work are being accepted until 10:30 a.m. Tuesday and will be considered by the council at its next meeting Aug. 19.

The new owners must furnish the school district with an easement of access to the railroad spur, since many of the school district's supplies come from rail cars.

The city also has agreed to give the Sideners a 50-year lease, at $10 per year, of the right-of-way under the

Area family adopts 5 Canadian Indian children

By VALERIE EVENEDEN of the Press-Record

"Oh, they're just like any normal children," Barb Jacobs commented matter of factly, as minor bickering between siblings could be heard from a nearby bedroom and one of the youngsters came out to register a protest.

But, they are really very special children.

All six of them. Five of whom are Dakota Hopi Indian children.

They are beautiful, bright and friendly and are very much at home in the large, comfortable brick house in Glenwood Estates, just east of Granite City.

Ron and Barb Jacobs just became the adopted parents of five of the children—three girls and two boys.

The youngsters—five brothers and sisters—range in age from 5 to 11 years old.

Their sixth child, Amie, 4 years, was adopted by the couple when only 2 weeks old.

Amie, whose eyes are the brightest blue and wears her shiny blonde hair drawn up in pigtails, now has lots of playmates.

Her closest companion is 5-year-old Marci, who carries around a large doll, almost her own size, with long blonde hair similar to Amie's.

Marci, a petite child, has sparkling brown eyes set in a pixie face, framed with short curly black hair.

The newest members of the Jacobs family are from Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada.

They are from a tribe of the Sioux

State funds down, but still sound

A 36 percent drop in federal aid and a 41 percent increase in expenditures left the available balance in the state's general funds on July 31 at $446 million, Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported this week.

The comptroller said that the $446 million month-end balance was down $106 million from the record high of $552 million or 41.1 percent higher than the same month a year ago. Almost half of increased expenditures resulted from the final transfer of $93 million from the general funds to the corporate personal property tax replacement fund.

During the last fiscal year, the replacement monies were deposited briefly in the general funds and then shifted to the replacement fund for distribution to local governments throughout the state.

New legislation, approved earlier this year, now requires the tax revenues to be deposited directly in the replacement fund, without passing through the general funds.

While the general funds increased $40 million or 0.5 percent from state sources last month, that gain was negated by a $53 million or 36.1 percent drop in revenue from federal sources, primarily in reimbursements for public aid.

This made the total general funds revenues in July 1980 $602 million, or $13 million (2.1 percent) less than the previous July 1979 record.

The available balance in the general funds was $446 million on July 31, 1980—$106 million less than the balance of $552 million at the end of July 1979 (the highest end of July balance in the history of the general funds), $37 million less than the balance at the beginning of the month, and $56 million more than the balance at the beginning of the month minus corporate personal property tax replacement money.

Total general funds revenues in July 1980 were $602 million, $13 million or 2.1 percent less than the July 1979 record. A $40 million or 8.5 percent increase in revenues from state sources—regular income taxes up $15 million or 9.6 percent.

regular public utility taxes up $13 million or 39.4 percent (inflated by about $11 million due to a delay in the flow of June 1980 receipts until July 1980), while transfers in were up $10 million ($10 million was transferred from the surplus in the agricultural premium fund)—was negated by a $53 million or 36.1 percent decrease in revenue from federal sources (primarily in reimbursements from the public aid trust fund).

Total expenditures from the general funds in July 1980 were $639 million, $186 million or 41.1 percent higher than comparable spending in July 1979. $93 million or one half of this total increase represented the final transfer of personal property tax replacement money to the replacement fund.

A $46 million increase in public aid grants (23.3 percent), a $22 million increase (17.2 percent) in spending for operations, a $17 million increase in common school fund spending (the comparable payment was made in June last year), and a $8 million (47.1 percent) increase in refunds spending accounted for the other half of the total increase in General Funds spending in July 1980.

Named to leadership unit

Sally S. Ferguson, coordinator for the Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been selected to participate in the Danforth Foundation's St. Louis Leadership Program.

According to Otis Jackson, program director for the Foundation, 46 individuals were selected from 180 nominations to participate in the nine-month program. Participants will meet once a month beginning in September to "discuss issues facing the metropolitan St. Louis area," Jackson said.

To be eligible for the program, persons must be "committed leaders in positions related to urban problems" and must be "at a stage in their development when additional educational and practical experiences" can enhance their awareness and understanding of community problems, Jackson said.

Selection is based on "personal qualifications essential to leadership, motivation to engage in educational activities to improve their leadership capacity, belief in the possibilities for change and improvement through an orderly process, and commitment to working for urban development and reconciliation in the metropolitan St. Louis area," according to Jackson.

Established in 1927, the Danforth Foundation works in areas of higher education, pre-collegiate education, and urban education in the St. Louis area, and has sponsored the leadership program five years.

YOUTH ARRESTED
Called to East 23rd and Edna streets last week, police arrested Steve Copeland, 17, of 2205 Edna St., on a warrant alleging failure to pay in a case involving battery. He was released at 3 a.m. today after paying a $50 cash bond.

Nutritional snacks were served daily.

Mrs. Rosetta J. Owens served as director of the summer ministry. Other workers were Mrs. Hilda James, Mrs. Aya DeBoe, Mrs. Phyllis Haynes, Mrs. Adrienne DeBoe, Mrs. Frankie Griggs, Mrs. Marcia Jackson, Mrs. Joyce Crawford, Mrs. Cynthia Crawford, Mrs. Viola Lewis, Miss Denise Williams, Willard Owens, Mr. William E. Area family especially if older ones are involved, Barb said.

That first call was received last October. The Jacobs were among 100 families who were inquiring about the five children and detailed background studies were necessary before the adoption procedure could even get started.

It was the end of February when Mrs. Hall called and said the children were ours, if we wanted them, Barb said.

"We did," she said smiling. The youngsters, accompanied by a caseworker, came here in June for a six-day visit to acquaint them with what shortly would become their new home.

"We had made scrapbooks for each of the children with photographs of the house and our families and we talked with them every weekend on the telephone.

"They also made scrapbooks for us" and wrote letters, so we got to know one another even before they came here," Barb said.

Arriving at the Jacobs home one immediately is awestruck by the number of bicycles which fill the two-car garage.

A large three-seat station wagon sat in its relegated place, out in the driveway.

A young boy, Darryl, 8, was busy coiling rope into a lasso and hooking it into his belt. He ran inside to tell his mother of our arrival.

Roger, 11, the oldest child, flashing a brilliant smile, scooped up D'Arcy, the Jacobs' pet dog, settling him on his lap at the dining room table.

D'Arcy, the family pet for 11 years, was completely at home with the youngsters and obviously was enjoying the petting and attention he was receiving.

As the children gathered around the table, a warm relationship was apparent between each other and the mother.

The two youngest children sat on her lap, both gazing inquisitively at the photographer.

Cheryl, already showing signs at 10 of becoming a raven-haired beauty, proudly displayed some new earrings, which brought Donna, 6, over to show her own tiny silver hoops.

Roger, 11, will enter the seventh grade at Edwardsville Junior High School this month and the other children will attend Glen Carbon Grade School.

"Amie will be the only one left at home," the mother said. "The boys have made lots of friends."

"Barb commented, 'Yes, we've got lots of friends.' Roger said, being echoed quickly by Darryl, 8, who volunteered, 'I know lots of boys around here.'"

"We had Bible school here this morning, so we've been busy," Barb said, picking up a round yellow disk from the floor on which was a quotation from the scriptures.

In preparation of the children's arrival, Ron and Barb extensively remodeled the house in which they have lived nearly eight years.

They turned the former family room into a dining room, large enough to accommodate a big trestle-style table, made by the children's new grandfather, Leonard E. Miller of Granite City, and big enough to seat the entire family.

The basement area was converted into a bedroom for the boys, a playroom, family room and a sewing room for Barb, who figures she going to need it with her fast-growing family.

Ron, a bricklayer, works at Granite City Steel and has been a member of Bricklayers Local 66 for the past 12 years.

He is a combat veteran of the Vietnam War and won commendations for assignments undertaken with his German Shepherd patrol dog, an animal he trained himself.

Some of Ron's union buddies helped with the remodeling project, Barb said. Ron's mother, Helen, and his stepfather, Leonard, also did much to help us get ready for the children, she added.

The couple also invested in the new station wagon in the driveway, one with plenty of seats. "It has a diesel engine and we get 33 miles to the gallon," Barb said.

Ron, Barb and Amie went to Canada last month to bring the children home. Winnipeg, the girls were in separate foster homes, while the two boys were together in the same home for the last two years.

They each other on an infrequent basis, but had not been together as a family for the past four years.

The environment of each foster home in which the children lived in Winnipeg was totally different, the mother said.

"One of the girls was with a Dutch lady and her mother, another was placed with a family with two other children and the boys lived with a Filipino family the last two years," she explained.

Before leaving Canada with their new family, the Jacobs visited the schools the children had been attending and got quite a welcome.

"The girls' music class had made up a song for us and the woman principal of the boys' school escorted us on a tour of the classrooms and introduced us to all the teachers.

"We had to meet everyone and all were very happy the family was getting together again."

At the mention of school, Cheryl brought out a soft cuddly animal toy, she called "Curious George," which her teacher had given her as a farewell gift.

At this point, Darryl took a piece of artificial fruit from a centerpiece on the dining room table and pretended to eat it.

"They'll eat anything," Barb commented. The children added to any household has to mean some revisions in the family budget.

"No big deal," Barb said, "we just won't go out as often and will give up some luxuries."

All the children are healthy and the Jacobs say they can provide them with all the necessities for a good life and more, without any help from outside.

The fact they were successful in being chosen as the youngsters' adopted parents over many, many others attests to this fact.

But the Jacobs can give their young ones a lot more than most people in other ways.

Both are warm, outgoing individuals who love children. And, very prevalent throughout the home.

From the gaily decorated elephant-shaped bunk beds in Amie and Marcel's room, given to the girls by a friend and hand-painted by Barb, to the affectionate glances and touches between parents and children, 29 Glenwood Estates, is indeed a very warm place to be.

Charged with having gun inside purse

Gloria M. Ballentine, 31, of 1401 Iowa St., was charged with carrying a gun in her purse after she allegedly took a loaded .38-caliber pistol into the Granite City Police Building at 1:45 a.m. today.

Officers said Mrs. Ballentine had come to the police station to try and get her husband, John Ballentine, 37, out of jail. He had been arrested at 1:40 a.m. today at 17th Street and Madison Avenue for allegedly driving an auto while his driver's license was suspended.

When Mrs. Ballentine put her purse on the counter at the police station, a gun in the purse banged against the counter and the outline of the gun could be seen on the purse, police alleged.

She allegedly refused to give officers her purse and when she was asked to dump its contents onto a desk, she allegedly put the gun behind her back and refused to surrender it to officers.

Two policemen took the loaded gun away from her and charged her, it was reported.

Both Ballentines were released on notices to appear in court.

Chicago man arrested here

Alexander J. Penney, 22, of Chicago Heights, Ill., was taken into custody by Venice police at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, as a result of two incidents occurring earlier that day in Granite City.

Chicago City police, charged Penney with theft, reckless driving, leaving the scene of an accident with vehicle damage and improper use of registration.

Additional charges may be filed, pending the outcome of an investigation, police said.

The initial incident was reported at 7:25 a.m. Thursday when Ben Johansson called police from the Clark Service Station, 20th Street and Madison Avenue, and alleged a man, driving a white over green Oldsmobile had left without paying $23 for gasoline and oil.

At 8:30 a.m., Thursday, James R. Robinson, 1728 Ferguson Ave., reported a white over green Oldsmobile had passed the pickup truck he was driving south in the 2400 block of Missouri Avenue and struck the front of his truck with the right rear of the auto.

A description of the car and driver was broadcast and Venice police located the vehicle and Penney in the Illinois Central Railroad yards on Main Street, Venice.

Penney was transferred to Granite City and appeared before a judge at 3:10 p.m. Thursday. Bond was set at $500 cash.

A mittimus was issued and he was transferred to Madison County Jail by sheriff's deputies at 4:55 a.m. Friday.

EOC energy program a success

The Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission released figures last week indicating that the agency's energy assistance program is a success.

During the period from December 1979 through June 1980, a total of 1208 Madison County households received aid in coping with utility bills.

Over 60 percent of the families receiving these services had annual incomes of less than $4,000. Over 25 percent of the families served had annual incomes of $4,001 to $6,000.

will be paying rates in July, 1981, that are about equal to the existing rates already being paid by the majority of electric customers in Illinois, it was explained.

A typical residential Rate 1 customer uses 3,522 kilowatt hours annually and is now paying $177 per year for electrical service.

This would be increased by $48 per year to $225 annually if served by Central Illinois Public Service Company, he would pay $228; and $221 if served by Commonwealth Edison Company, the official noted.

A typical residential Rate 2 customer using 11,465 kwh annually is now paying $541 per year for electric service.

Under the company's proposed rates, his annual charges for electric service would increase by $140 to $681.

A customer using the same amount of electric service and served by Central Illinois Public Service Company is currently paying $679; if served by Central Illinois Public Service Company, he would pay $681; and $701 if served by Commonwealth Edison Company, the company said.

About one-half of the proposed increase is required to offset the effects of inflation in the company's daily operating costs that have occurred since the last rate increase granted in November, 1979.

The remainder is to offset the increased financing costs. The company's request includes approximately $300 million of additional construction work in progress in its electric rate base which is required to maintain the financial health of the company.

It is important that Illinois Power Company remain a financially healthy utility if it is to provide reliable electric service at reasonable costs, he added.

Because the company has in the past maintained a strong financial position, the company's ready access to the financial markets at reasonable costs has allowed it to make investments in plant and equipment, such as the Baldwin generating station, to improve operating efficiencies, he concluded.

the township collectors, he noted. "We are trying to get that money in here as quickly as we can," Henkhaus said.

The tax bills could not be computed until the Board of Review completed its hearings and adjustments in assessments of individual properties, because those adjustments affect the tax rates.

The 1979-80 fiscal year budgets of the various taxing bodies are compared to the adjusted assessed valuation of each taxing district, after Board of Review changes, to determine the tax rates for each governmental body.

The rates of the applicable city, township, school, park, sewer, library and sanitary district and other taxing districts then are applied to the assessed valuation of each parcel of property to determine the tax due.

The first batch of tax bills was to be mailed out early this week with most of the 107,000 bills to be received by the end of this week, Henkhaus said.

Job offers to most of Army staff here

The decision to have private industry take over certain operations at the St. Louis Arsenal, Mo., by the Army (SLASC), Granite City, has led to some confusion, according to Major John W. Brown, the SLASC military commander.

On Oct. 1, RCA Corp., Cherry Hill, N.J., will assume the responsibility for service-oriented functions currently being performed by civil service personnel and non-appropriated fund employees.

Persons currently in these jobs being taken over by RCA Corp., Maj. Brown said, will not necessarily be left jobless. Of the over 200 jobs, 52 will remain at SLASC within the federal government.

John J. Connors, RCA division vice-president of operations, stressed today that incumbent government employees will receive first consideration in the filling of these positions.

Madison schools to have burglar alarms

The Madison School Board at its Thursday evening meeting voted to have burglar alarm systems installed at the Harris and Louis Bear elementary schools.

All other Madison public schools have alarms. Board Member Paul Bargiel reported that he had talked to Mike Mack, alarm supervisor for the city of Madison about costs.

Bargiel reported that there would be no installation cost. There would be a $45 per month maintenance and service charge; however this does not include telephone line charges which were estimated at about $10 per month.

The renewal of use by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission (EOC) of Danbar school was tabled pending a special meeting. EOC has been renting space at Danbar the past two years.

Roof bids were opened and referred to the administration and Eldon Rhoads, maintenance supervisor, with authority to award a contract to the low bidder that meets specifications.

The roofs to be worked on are Blair and Louis Bear

'10-4' to receive national coverage

A new national magazine, the Explorer Journal, which will go to several hundred thousand young people, will feature in a future issue the forthcoming Washington D. C. trip of Explorer Post 10-4, Robert E. Hood, editor in chief of Exploring magazine, wrote W. F. "Mick" Strange, coordinator of Post 10-4 and assistant to the editor of the Granite City Press Record, requesting photos and texts of the trip.

Explorer Post 10-4 is sponsored by Madison Police Unit 110, Police Benevolent and Protective Association.

Officer William Weidner is the post adviser. The Explorers will leave Saturday, Aug. 16, and return Aug. 23.

The group will stay in the Holiday Inn-Telegraph Road, Alexandria, Va., which is the same motel the group stayed at in 1974 when they made a similar trip.

At 9 a.m. Monday, Aug. 18, the Explorers will meet with H. Stuart Knight, director of the U.S. Secret Service, Jack Warner Jr., assistant to the director, and Special Agent James Boyle whom many of the Explorers know from a law enforcement conference in Michigan held in July 1979.

They will spend the better part of Monday getting an in-depth look at the functions of the agency.

Post 10-4, it is believed, is the first and only Explorer group to be allowed inside the main headquarters of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

As in 1974, the 10-4 Explorers feel honored that Tuesday, Aug. 19, they will again be allowed to visit and receive a briefing on the agency by Paul Chretien, presentations officer of the CIA.

From the CIA the Explorers will then go to a personal meeting with William Webster, director of the FBI, after which they will be given a special tour of the new J. Edgar Hoover building.

Congressman Mel Price will meet the young men at 11 a.m. when they visit the House of Representatives Rayburn building and the Explorers will have a lunch of the famous Senate bean soup.

On Wednesday evening the group will take a professional three-hour bus tour "Washington at Night," seeing the historical monuments all brightly lighted.

The Explorers will also spend at least one day at the Smithsonian complex. Plans to meet with an Explorer Post, sponsored by the Fairfax County Police Department for a party are also being made.

GARAGE THEFT
A 2-horsepower green air compressor, valued at $400, was stolen from a garage at the home of John Kampman, 1701 Edison Ave., it was reported at 2:30 a.m. Friday.

The compressor was mounted on two wheels and had a spray gun attached.

Transit corridors proposed

During its monthly meeting last week, the board of directors of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council authorized its executive director, Matthew D. Malucci, to apply for Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) funds for long-range transit planning.

The study will analyze a variety of transportation modes and service alternatives along four possible corridors.

The corridors include the Innerbelt, which extends north-south through the central portion of St. Louis County for a distance of 21.5 miles, and the East St. Louis Clayton corridor, running east-west through the central portion of the City of St. Louis for 12.6 miles.

Also studied will be the Northside corridor, extending north-south through the central portion of St. Louis and north St. Louis County, and the Lambert DeBartolomeo corridor, running 24 miles from the northwestern portion of St. Louis County through the central portion of St. Louis and into East St. Louis.

The modes to be examined are light rail, bus (including freeway bus) and several transportation systems management improvements, such as increased auto occupancy and high-occupancy vehicles.

Former resident's daughter wins title

Annette Miller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Miller of Longview, Wash., was crowned Miss Kelo, the preliminary step to competing for the title of Miss Washington next summer, in competition held two weeks ago.

Her mother is the former Virginia Hobensee of Granite City.

The new Miss Kelo is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz (Claudia) Reams of Granite City and Mrs. Vivvynne Durbin of Moline, Ill., a former resident.

Miss Miller also is a granddaughter of the late Gladys Brooks Hobensee and a great-granddaughter of the late Mrs. Verta Brooks, both of Granite City.

In her talent presentation, Miss Miller sang a gospel-number, "He Loves Me. One of 10 young women from all parts of Kelo County competing in the finals, Miss Miller also won the Miss Congeniality award.

She received a $1,000 scholarship.

The new queen will attend Seattle Pacific University this year with the goal of becoming a nurse.

Miss Miller's home is 35 miles from Mount St. Helen, Wash.

Most residents of the community in which the family resides were evacuated when the volcano initially erupted and covered the area with volcanic ash, a local relative said Friday.

Wastewater treatment course

Fall classes for wastewater and water treatment operators in Illinois will begin the last week in August at the Environmental Resources Training Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

As the official water operator training site for the state, ERTC offers a series of classes and workshops in all areas of Illinois to train water treatment personnel to meet certification requirements.

Ken Reid, program director for operations, said the two evening classes at Edwardsville will offer training in specific instrumentation and math skills used in water operations.

The fall schedule includes W W - P W S 1133, "Instrumentation for Water and Wastewater Systems," a complete course in the application, calibration, maintenance and operation of instruments and control systems.

The second class, W W - P W S 100, "Math for Water Supply and Wastewater Operators," is a review of the math and calculation procedures needed in process control. The course is also recommended for operators who need a math review before taking the certification exams.

Weekly sessions meet Monday or Wednesday evening for 12 to 16 weeks, earning 3.2 to 3.6 continuing education units of credit. Tuition is $95 or $110, excluding books. Classes begin Aug. 25 and Aug. 27.

For additional information or to complete the required preregistration, interested persons may contact the Training Coordinator, ERTC, Campus Box 75, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill. 62026, or call (618) 692-3030.

Supreme Court asked to uphold vote request

The Coalition for Political Honesty has filed a petition for mandamus in Springfield asking the Illinois Supreme Court to order the State Board of Elections to put the Legislative Cutback Amendment on the November ballot.

The Cutback Amendment is a voter referendum seeking to cut the size of the Illinois House by one-third, a reduction which will save taxpayers $7 million a year. The Amendment will also abolish cumulative voting and multi-member House districts.

The State Board of Elections has been charged with trying to keep the Cutback Amendment off the ballot by applying a restrictive petition law to the Coalition's 477,112 signatures. The law was passed by the legislature on Aug. 11, 1979, eight months after the Cutback petition drive began.

"We're confident that the seven justices of the Illinois Supreme Court will protect the rights of six million Illinois voters to vote on the Cutback Amendment," said Patrick Quinn, Coalition spokesman.

"The decision of the State Board of Elections was cowardly and it violated the most fundamental principle of American law: legislators can't change the rules in the middle of the game and apply laws retroactively," he said.

The petition for mandamus is a legal procedure used when time is of essence concerning matters of great public importance. By going directly to the Supreme Court, the Coalition can make sure the Cutback Amendment is certified and ballot pamphlets are distributed by the secretary of state in time for the Nov. 4 election.

If the mandamus petition is not granted by the Supreme Court, the Coalition will immediately proceed with a petition for review of the State Board of Elections' decision in the circuit court of Sangamon County before Judge John Russell, Quinn said.

Quinn said the central issue in the Coalition's suit is the constitutional right of Illinois citizens to pass petitions to reform the legislature.

"County clerks across the state determined absolutely that our petitions contain the signatures of registered voters and that we collected thousands of signatures more than the legal minimum of 252,008 to qualify," the Cutback Amendment," said Quinn.

"The only way the State Board of Elections was able to deny the Cutback Amendment a place on the ballot was to say that thousands of signatures notarized before the August 11 law was passed were invalid because they did not comply with the law."

The State Board of Elections also threw out entire petition sheets if even one signature on a petition did not comply with the legislature's anti-petition law.

Quinn said the anti-petition law is "the most restrictive in the country and was passed by selfish legislators who were willing to do anything to prevent the people from voting on whether Illinois should have a smaller, leaner House of Representatives."

The law, which radically changed 80 years of petition history in Illinois; prohibits petition passers for referendum issues from collecting signatures outside their home election jurisdictions.

Quinn appealed to citizens and the media to speak out in support of the Cutback Amendment's right to be on the November ballot.

"The right to pass petitions in our democracy is just as fundamental as our freedom of speech and freedom of religion."

"We cannot permit a group of unprincipled politicians to gang up and attack our fundamental liberties."

Quinn said that Coalition members will be selling buttons and organizing fundraisers this month to raise money for the legal costs necessary in protecting the Cutback Amendment's place on the ballot.

Any citizen interested in helping the campaign to protect the Cutback Amendment may contact the coalition for Political Honesty, P.O. Box 708, Oak Park, Ill. 60303 or call (312) 524-1978, Quinn said.

File cannabis, curfew charges

Three youths, two 16-year-olds and one 14-year-old, seen walking in the 2000 block of Missouri Avenue last week were brought to police headquarters and charged with violating the curfew statute.

One youth, 16, also was charged with illegal possession of cannabis when a plastic bag, containing cannabis, was found in a pocket of his jeans. The same youth had a pair of forceps in another pocket.

All were released on notice to appear for a hearing at a later date.

Journalism minor offered

A minor in journalism will be offered at McKendree College at Lebanon beginning the fall term. The minor will provide students with the opportunity to gain theoretical and practical knowledge about the communications industry.

This minor would emphasize the print media, but also will offer the possibility for students to become familiar with broadcast procedures. Such a minor would make English majors more able to find employment in media communication or publishing after graduation.

Introduction to Media Communications will be offered this fall. A study of theory and methodology, it applies to print and broadcast media. Newspaper layout, mass communication and society and newspaper writing will be offered in the spring.

Chuck Garard will teach the Media Communications course this fall. Currently teaching English and film classes at Belleville Area College, Garard earned the Bachelor of Arts degree in English from McKendree in 1973 and the Master of Arts degree in English from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in 1977. He resides in Belleville.

Von der Haar ready to accept challenge

Press-Record Sports

GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, August 11, 1980—7

EDITOR'S NOTE: Al Von der Haar was named late last week as the new head football coach at Madison High School. A separate news story appears elsewhere in this issue.

By KEVIN ALLEN of the Press-Record

MADISON — If there is a single word to sum up Al Von der Haar's coaching philosophy, it is simply this: WORK.

The word should be carved in granite somewhere near the Madison High School football field. For if Von der Haar is as good as his word, the Madison players will WORK.

"There are a lot of clichés in football, but the funny thing is, most of the time they turn out to be true. I believe that through work you can accomplish anything," Von der Haar said.

As the new head coach of the Madison Trojans, Von der Haar what lies ahead: WORK.

He inherits a team that failed to win a game last season. What's more, he inherits a team that scored only one touchdown last season.

He knows all that. But, he said, that's the past.

What matters now is the future. That's where he comes in.

"You need three ingredients for a successful football team," Von der Haar said. "First you need speed. Every coach wants that more than anything. Next you need toughness.

"I know our kids have speed, and I know they're tough. What's missing is the third ingredient — a willingness to work hard and work together."

It's this third area in which the new coach will devote most effort.

Actually, Von der Haar isn't all that new of a coach. His hiring last Friday marked a return to the helm of the Trojans after a four-year absence.

He previously guided the team for eight years. From 1969 to 1975, Von der Haar led the team to two Midwestern conference championships and to one undefeated season, in 1969.

Since he left as head coach, Von der Haar has taught physical education at Madison's junior high and middle school. From there, he has kept close to the high school team and has taught many of the players currently on the squad.

"I established an inter-annual program at the middle school and for many of the kids it was the first exposure to football. I saw a lot of kids in the seventh and eighth grades who would make good football players, and they all pretty much know me. I think this is the ideal setup," Van der Haar said.

But it all comes down to one thing: "You could bring in Vince Lombardi and if the kids didn't want to play he wouldn't be successful. It's up to the coach to instill that in the players."

Although preseason practices are scheduled to begin around the middle of August, Von der Haar said he sees no difficulty in preparing with such short notice.

"Once you've coached it doesn't take a lot of time getting ready," he said.

"I'm a fundamentalist. I believe in going over things one at a time and not moving on until a thing is learned. There's nothing really complicated about that."

As yet, Madison hasn't named Von der Haar's players currently on the

Inter-City looks to the playoffs

By TOM SCHOCKER of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — In 1931, summer baseball took on a new dimension as the Illinois Inter-City League sprouted its roots and began organization. Fifty years, although reduced to five teams, the league is celebrating its golden anniversary.

With a new president and the playoffs just around the corner, the managers and players took time Sunday to reflect on the league in its half a century year, as well as a look at the upcoming playoffs. This season's quest for the league crown might well prove to be a cat and dog fight to the very end.

In a year that saw four out of the five clubs reach the playoffs, it was a general consensus among the manager and players that the Inter-City, although a good league, would be better with a few more teams.

Ray Harris, McDonald's manager, "Being in the league for the first time, it was good. But I think it needs a few more teams. The competition was there and there was some pretty good players. But when the playoffs come around, it's gonna be like the McDonald's slogan, 'Nobody can do it like McDonald's can!' I kind of believe it is going to be the final game of the championship. But when the final playoff game comes, McDonald's is going to be in it."

Bob Ford, McDonald's outfielder... "A few more teams would make the league better. The competition is definitely there to keep the league going. In fact, our toughest competition has been Corral Liqueur. They will be that way in the playoffs too. We won first place, why not the championship. As long as we work together and get some good pitching, we will be alright."

Ken Crawford, Corral Liqueur manager... "I played for four years in the Inter-City and coached for the last two years and the competition is better, but it is going downhill. We have to get some more teams. The league is a lot more even this year. You can see that by the records. There were three teams in the race until the very last week. But it might come down to us and McDonald's in the final game. We have to have good pitching and good defense. The hitting is there. Don't worry about that."

Doug Rains, Corral Liqueur pitcher... "I've been playing for five years with a number of different teams and the league started off good when I began. But it went downhill since then. I guess it's starting to pick up. There is no discipline in the league

Schrader wins feature

By JEFF EAVES of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Just as he has done in the sprint cars and midgets, Kenny Schrader of Ballwin, Mo., won the 26-lap late model feature at the Tri-City Speedway Saturday night.

Terry Messenger of Robinson, Ill., started on the pole position jumped off to an commanding lead until lap eight when he blew his engine thus forcing him out of the race. Schrader who had worked his way up to second from his third row starting spot took the lead and went on to record his first late model feature win of the year.

At the finish, it was Schrader in his Sieveking Mustang followed by C. C. Corbin of East Alton, Ill., Mike Barbeau of O'Fallon, Mo., Bob Smith of St. Charles, Mo., Rob Jones of Creve Coeur, Mo., and Paul Cox of Berkeley, Mo.

Messenger won the first heat over Willie Johnson of St. Charles, Mo., Billy Collins of Elsberry, Mo. and Bo Smith, C. C. Corbin won the second late model heat over Ron Fisher of Centralia, Ill., Schrader and Mike Dyche of Jacksonville, Ill.

In the trophy dash bill Collins was the winner over Terry Messenger, Ron Fisher and C. C. Corbin.

In the sportsman division it was their season championship and the point leader Tom Smith of Honeywell, Mo. who started on the pole took the lead on lap eight when race leader Gene Jones of Creve Coeur, Mo., hit the outside guard rail in the fourth turn won the 25-lap feature for his fourth win in a row and his ninth win of the year. Smith and Jones started side by side in the first row and at the green flag Smith took the lead and led until lap eight when Jones overhauled him and led for one lap hit the fourth turn retaining wall.

At the finish in the feature it was Smith followed by Gary Wilson of Bowling Green, Mo., Doyle McMeen of Centralia, Ill., Rod Bailey of Granite City, Vic Davis of Ashland, Ill. and Kevin Rainwater of Granite City.

Gary Wilson won the first heat over Randy Weeks of Granite City in his Nova, Larry Hargrave of Brighton, Ill., and Chuck Lewis of Florissant, Mo. Rod Bailey driving the Jack's Auto Repair Camaro won the second heat over Gene Jones, Tom Smith and Doyle McMeen.

Late model and sportsman stock car racing will continue this Saturday night with the first race beginning at 8 p.m. with the late model season championship.

On Aug. 22 and 23 the second annual "Illinois Sprint Nationals" will be held at the speedway and will be sanctioned by the World of Outlaws. On Friday night, Aug. 22 the winner will receive $2,000 and on Saturday, Aug. 23 the winner will receive $3,000 for the $20,000 prize money.

Corral tunes with victory

By TOM SCHOCKER of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Having completed the regular season a week earlier, Corral Liqueur and Edwardsville of the Inter-City League had only one task left. Wait for the playoffs.

But that didn't stop these two clubs from getting together and hanging a few balls around. With the allotted 20 games already achieved on the season, Corral and the Nationals refused to let a Sunday waste away. The Cowboys notched an 8-5 victory at Wilson Park in a shortened six-inning practice contest.

Just a day of practice you might say. But Corral attack this game with earnest. Inspired by grabbing a first inning tally, the Cowboys let nothing to chance as their defense proved it is just as effective in practice as it is in a real game. Edwardsville went to the offense loading the bases on the Cowboys starting pitcher and manager Ken Crawford in the second frame with nobody out. However, Mike Robertson's sure glove speared a grounder and forced a runner at the plate. The very next batter learned that hitting a ball to Robertson is a big mistake. Robertson handled the roller, flipping it to Greco at second who completed the double play by tossing it over to Doug Rains on first. What could have turned into a fruitful inning for the Nationals, resulted in a good fielding session for Corral.

"It is good to have a practice game like this," said Edwardsville manager

Joe Lucco. "It helps keep these guys in tune for the playoffs." Keeping in tune was essential for Edwardsville if its playoff game next Sunday with first place

McDonald's is to be a success. The third frame, the Nationals certainly helped their ego. Putting together four hits. They came away with four runs and pushed up a three run advantage. "It's good practice for these guys," said Crawford. "Just going through the motions going through the motions

Belleville is ousted from state tourney

CHAMPAIGN — The Belleville American Legion baseball team was ousted from further play here Saturday, falling 7-5 in 10 innings to Galesburg in the double-elimination state tournament here at Centennial Park.

The loss ends Belleville's season at 35-15, while Galesburg, moved on to the state championship game last night. The loss technically gives Belleville third place in the state.

Both of Belleville's losses were to Galesburg. Last Thursday night, the Hilgards lost 16-7 while committing 11 errors.

Saturday, Belleville made only four errors, but they were enough. Galesburg scored its four winning runs in the tenth. All were unearned. Marty Marts was the losing pitcher for Belleville.

In Saturday's first game, Belleville defeated Champaign 5-1 to advance to the semifinal clash with Galesburg. The Hilgards scored four times in the top of the ninth inning for the victory.

Friday, Belleville downed Bloomington 10-8.

"It just wasn't to be," said Belleville manager Barney Elser. "Third in the state ain't too bad. I guess we dug our own hole when we lost that first game Thursday. It's tough to come back.

Special to the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — After all the dust had settled, only two came out alive. Bermuda and Honduras, the pre-meet favorites, will advance to the National Quarterfinals next week in Washington, D.C. in the World Youth Cup CONCACAF Tournament. Each won its game Saturday in the round-robin regional at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville. Honduras, considered the class of the regional, finished the meet with a 2-0-1 record. Bermuda finished at 2-1-0.

That means that Bermuda will face the United States Tuesday (Aug. 12) in the quarterfinals at R.F.K. Stadium in Washington. Honduras will face the Netherlands. The United States and Netherlands Antilles were the two

Rodeo set to start at Checkerdome

ST. LOUIS — Three rodeo champions in saddle bronc riding, bareback riding and bull riding will be challenged in one-on-one competition in their specialties when the Budweiser Challenge of Champions comes to the Checkerdome on Saturday, Aug. 16.

The special match rodeo competition featuring three members of the Budweiser Cowboy Six Pack going against challengers for $4,000 in prize money begins at 1 p.m. It is an added attraction for rodeo fans attending the Saturday matinee performance of the third annual Checkerdome Championship Rodeo.

First up will be the bareback competition with T. J. Walter of the Bud Six Pack being challenged by Paul Mayo, World Champion bareback rider in 1966 and 1970. A pro since 1967, Walter is one of the winningest bareback riders on the rodeo circuit.

Each of the cowboys will ride two horses, with the points from the two rides determining the winner. That same format holds true for the saddle bronc riding.

Bobby Brown of the Six Pack, who has been in the National Finals Rodeo saddle bronc competition seven times in the last 10 years, will be riding against Rick Whorton of Springfield, Ark. Whorton, who has been a pro five years, is one of the up and coming saddle bronc riders currently in the world standings.

The bull riding match will demonstrate the skill of Six Pack member Butch Kirby who is leading in the money standings for World Champion. He will be challenged by Ken Henry of Happy, Tex., who has made it to the National Finals Rodeo competition for the last two years.

In the Budweiser Challenge of Champions, it is head-to-head competition between two riders to determine the winner of the prize money. So far, the Bud Cowboy Six Pack has been on the winning side with a 4-3 record.

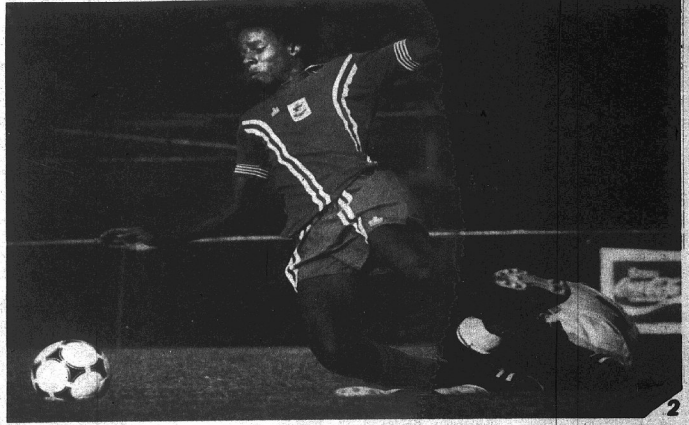

The Challenge of Champions is included in the admission price for the rodeo performance. Tickets are available at all rodeo outlets.

Softball tourney

HIGHLAND — Sievers' Park in Highland. Entry fee is $75 and sponsor expense is $500 for first, $300 for second, $200 for third, elimination, men's slo-pitch and $100 for fourth will be given. Trophies, awards, and 15, 16, and 17 at the V.F.W. t-shirts will also be given.

MADISON — At its regular meeting Thursday, the Madison School Board voted to name former Madison High School football coach Al Von der Haar to that same post effective immediately. He will replace Charles Steptoe, who held the job for only one season. Steptoe resigned last year. Von der Haar, who was coach up until four years ago when he stepped down, was one of three finalists for the job, according to Board President Sam Dymas. The other two candidates were not named publicly. "We decided to stay within the school district," said Dymas. "And I think we got the best man for the job, considering that." A special meeting will be held next Thursday to determine the future of the football program at MHS. "There are several things we'll discuss," said Dymas. "The number of assistants, et cetera." The football program at MHS has been on the downslope for some time, partly because of declining interest.

"The first day of practice for Illinois high schools is this Wednesday, Aug. 13. 'I think we waited too long to do this,' said Dymas. 'It should have been done a long time ago, so that the new coach could get his program going.' Another controversy at last Thursday's meeting was a recommendation by Dymas that a rule be established that any MHS student wanting to play basketball must also be required to play either soccer or football in the fall. When put to a vote, a 3-3 tie resulted. The matter will be taken up in more detail at next Thursday's special meeting. "They had that rule when I was in school," said Dymas. "I don't think it's bad. It would help our football and soccer programs and also keep the basketball players in good shape. Heck, some of the best basketball players we've ever had at Madison High were also football players." But at least three board members disagreed. One of them was Don Garrett. "It's not fair to force a kid to play something he doesn't want to," he said. "A kid who really wants to play soccer or football might have to sit the bench because a guy who's a better athlete but is only playing because he has to is starting." Also named at last Thursday's meeting was Terry Bare as an assistant football coach. Bare will teach art at MHS.

Bald eagle surviving

CARTERVILLE—On the morning of July 17, biological technician George Stapleton, of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, observed an immature bald eagle soaring around Little Creek Reservoir on Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge, at Carterville, Illinois. Similar events are occurring elsewhere in the upper Midwest at this time of year, so what makes this eagle so special? The bird is special because it's the first eagle ever to be hatched and reared on the refuge, moreover, the nest is only the second successful nest in Illinois in the past 37 years.

Efforts to produce the eagle began in early 1973 when a pair of eagles selected a snag in the reservoir and constructed a nest. Work on the nest ended abruptly when the tree fell during a storm in 1974. The eagles selected a nearby snag and again began building a nest. The eagles appeared to be interested in the nest throughout the winter months but usually joined the spring flights to northern states. However, in the spring of 1979, things were different. Seemingly, the eagles were about to carry the nesting activities to completion. From a vantage point a quarter of a mile from the nest, technician Stapleton checked the nest through his spotting scope almost daily. He was convinced the eagles were incubating during the entire month of April. For some unexplained reason, though, the eagles abandoned the nest and left the refuge on May 2. Observers were disappointed when they failed to see any sign of an egg or eaglet remains in an aerial survey over the nest a week later. The eagles returned to the area in November 1979, and again began defending territory around the nest. Biologists were excited by the obvious seriousness of the nesting activity when on March 8, 1980, the pair was observed mating near the nest. By late March, Stapleton thought the eagles were incubating an egg. On April 25, he noticed a change in the behavior of the eagle sitting on the nest and suggested it might be caring for a young bird. Suspicious were confirmed on May 8 when an eaglet was observed moving about on the edge of the nest. Both proud parents were in attendance.

anyone. Every day is out for a good time and just staying in tune. The competition is there but it is taken away because we're the teams over practice. Our team can hit with the best of them and pitching will be the key to our winning the championship. I think it will be us and McDonald's in the finals, but there won't be anyone running away with it."

Harold "Honey" Oberkell, Maryville manager, "I really think the league is in bad shape. With only five teams, it has gotten worse. This is my fifth year in the league and it just isn't the same. We definitely need more teams. We have as good a ball club as any. We did alright all year and we'll do alright in the playoffs. But I just don't have any further comment on the league."

Joe Lucco, Edwardsville manager, "I managed an Inter-City team in Glen Carbon about 10 years ago. But I got out of managing until this season. The competition doesn't measure up because of the absence of Music Room Vans, Collinsville and the Chiefs. They were the cream of the crop. So we have the rest of the Sunday ball players. The league will get better next year because of Legion ball. I think if we would not have created a team in Edwardsville, the league would have folded. We are fortunate to be in the playoffs. The Granite City teams are very good and Maryville is a young, good running team. But on a given day, we can give anyone a good game. If we have a full team, we'll have a good chance."

Dan Schardon, league president, "As a whole the league has been more balanced than in years before. Just look at the last record between the first three teams. This is my seventh year in the league and this year is as equal as the other years. The only thing different is the young players have more experience."

thusiasm. As far as the playoffs go, it could be any of the top three teams. But I would have to think it will be a toss-up between Corral and McDonald's. It will depend on those pitching. I don't look for one team to win all its games. But it will assistant coaches. But that too presents a problem as far as Von der Haar is concerned.

"They asked me when they called me about the job who I wanted as assistants. I said, 'Who's available?' The main thing is to get people who think like you do. Everyone has to be willing to do their part and help out as players and coaches."

keeps them from getting stale," said Crawford. "Even just six innings will keep us keep in tune." The Cowboys finished off this sober with pride in his accomplishments at Madison during his tenure as coach. He said he takes most satisfaction in the 1969 undefeated season. "When we started we looked like a bunch of ragamuffins, but we blossomed and all of a sudden we were winners."

He also prides himself on his record for producing college athletes. He said, in all, about 50 players either played college football place finisher Edwardsville (8-12). Second place Corral (12-7) will do battle with third place Maryville (12-8). Both confrontations will be played in Granite City, as McDonald's and Corral have home field honors.

after leaving Madison or were offered football scholarships. These are traditions Van der Haar hopes he can return to Madison after some rather bleak years.

"I think right now the problem is just a lack of confidence. The kids really don't know all they're capable of doing. Obviously, there's a lot of work to be done. But I'm accustomed to a tough job."

Esperanto course at SIUE

The School of Humanities at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a humanities honors course in Esperanto, a language which is being developed as an international language.

Esperanto (HUM 3014) will be offered for three quarters, beginning this fall. Classes will meet Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 until 10:20 a.m.

To qualify for enrollment, a student must have a 4.25 cumulative grade point average or have the permission of the instructor.

The class format will consist of lectures and oral drills so that students will be able to speak, read and write the language as well as possible.

Studies indicate that Esperanto takes one-fifth to one-tenth the time normally needed to learn another language. Based primarily on words common to the chief European languages, Esperanto has 16 grammatical rules that can easily be learned within a few hours.

"Most languages take three or four years of concentration to master," Rino Cassanelli, assistant professor of foreign language and literature at the University, said. "An average student can learn to speak, read and write Esperanto in less than a year," he said.

Prof. Pierre Janton, an exchange educator from the Université de Clermont in France, taught the class at SIUE for one quarter last year.

When he returned to France, Prof. Janton matched the personalities of some of his French students with those of SIUE students. As a result, a number of the SIUE students are now corresponding with the French students in the new language.

Over one million people around the world speak the language, with large concentrations in Europe, South America and Asia. The Universal Esperanto Association maintains a roster of people knowledgeable in the language, so that students of different countries can communicate with one another.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the department of foreign languages and literature at (618) 692-3510.

Arrested on theft charge

It's not illegal to eat chicken in the street, only if someone says you haven't paid for it.

Robert C. Elland, 30, of East St. Louis, was arrested last week while allegedly eating a piece of chicken and walking across the street in the 1900 block of Edison Avenue. He was charged with theft.

Doris Kaiser, operator of Doris Restaurant, 1820 State St., said a man came into her business and ordered two dinners to go and then left with the meals without paying. She provided a description to officers.

Elland allegedly was carrying two boxes containing hot meals, as well as eating, when taken into custody.

Phone calls not hit by inflation

Since 1953 the cost of the average business letter has increased more than 418 percent while the cost of a telephone call has actually gone down, Illinois Bell Co. officials noted here last week.

The cost of dictating and transcribing an average business letter has climbed to $6.07 in 1980 compared with $1.17 in 1953, according to figures from the Dartnell Institute of Business Research, it was asserted. On the other hand, a three-minute station-to-station call, dialed during business hours from Springfield, Ill., to New York that cost $1.50 in 1953, costs just $1.25 today, a decrease of 16.6 percent.

A three-minute call from Chicago to San Francisco, made under the same circumstances, cost $2.20 in 1953, but now costs just $1.31. Long distance rates cost even less if the calls are made during bargain hours, according to Illinois Bell.

There are three basic long distance rate periods—the weekday full rate charged during normal business hours, the lower evening rate and the lowest night and weekend rate.

The biggest bargains are found in calls placed during the night and weekend calling period, which runs from 11 p.m. until 8 a.m. as well as all day Saturday and on Sunday until 5 p.m. For example, charges for out-of-state calls made during these hours are 60 percent less than the full weekday rate. Charges for out-of-state calls made during the evening rate period—5 p.m. until 11 p.m. Sundays through Fridays, are 35 percent less.

The maximum charge for a call anywhere in the contiguous United States would be only 22 cents for the first minute if placed during the night and weekend hours, compared with 37 cents during the evening rate period and 57 cents during the weekday business hours.

Fitzgerald to post at Steelabrade

Steve C. Fitzgerald has been appointed vice-president-marketing for the Steelabrade Corporation, it was announced this week by David N. Jones, chairman.

Fitzgerald formerly was with Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corporation, and held numerous sales management positions.

"He brings to Steelabrade experience in hot rolled, cold rolled and galvanized products, plus processing knowledge of steel mill products," Jones said. A graduate in chemical engineering of the University of Missouri at Rolla, he lives in St. Louis County with his wife Audrey, and three children.

Steelabrade will shortly complete an extensive expansion of a new coil processing line to paint and slit hot rolled coils for the manufacture of purins and girts to be consumed by the metal building industry.

Steelabrade, with corporate offices located in St. Louis, is a diversified steel service center located in Granite City.

Schedule skywriting events

Changes in the scheduled target dates for the four remaining skywriting projects in the series of visual art events, "Air Planes: Locating Images in Time and Space by Skywriting," are being announced by the artist, Lella Daw.

Daw, associate professor of art and design at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and director of the unique sky art projects said the changes are necessary because of variables in weather, personnel and equipment which continue to affect the performance and viewing conditions. The project is supported by a graduate research award at SIUE and the Contemporary Arts Society of the St. Louis Art Museum.

The first rescheduled event, "Bicycle-Airplane Path," will be seen Wednesday, Aug. 20, over Forest Park in St. Louis beginning at 11 a.m. A modern skywriting plane, with equipment perfected by agricultural pilot Bob Feyman, will trace the bicycle paths in the park, ascending and descending in the sky over the hills, mapping both the horizontal and vertical contours.

Other skywriting events and target dates are: Saturday, Aug. 23, "Making the Invisible Visible," will be seen over the confluence of the Mississippi and Illinois rivers beginning at noon. "This project is critically related to wind and weather conditions, since it uses air convection currents over the rivers—first as a means of changing parallel smoke lines made by the lane, and then as a means of erasing 'diagrams of air currents drawn in the convection paths,'" Daw said.

Sunday, Aug. 24, "Ancient City in the Sky," to be seen over Cahokia Mounds is scheduled the same day at noon instead of 3 p.m. The sky art will trace the mounds and structures of the ancient urban city.

Wednesday, Aug. 27, "Prehistoric River Channel," will be seen over the ancient Mississippi River bed between St. Louis and Horseshoe Lake in Illinois at 11 a.m. The smoke lines tracing the former river banks should be visible over a wide area including the St. Louis waterfront and the downtown area, she said.

Saturday, Aug. 30, will be used as an alternate date for any project which cannot be performed on its scheduled date, Daw said. For further information or verification of a particular event, contact the artist at 314-655-0129.

Illinois fair 'post office' is relocated

The 1980 Illinois State Fair U.S. Post Office, previously housed at the east end of the state fair grounds, is located this year with the philatelic displays in the Exposition Building, north of Happy Hollow.

Open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. each day, except Aug. 17, the post office will offer commemorative postage and regular stamps issued within the past year by the U.S. Postal Service. In addition, unusual philatelic items, such as uncanceled sheets of postcards, will be available for purchase.

All employees and exhibitors staying on the grounds during the fair may use the post office as an address for incoming mail. Items mailed by the public from this post office will be cancelled with a special Illinois State Fair imprimatur, according to Philatelic Superintendent Arthur Faucon.

WARRANT ARREST
Alan Boyd Konnerman, 17, of 1738 Cleveland Blvd., was arrested at 29th Street and Edison Avenue last week on a warrant alleging obstruction of a peace officer.

Management course for area women

Challenges and problems women encounter in business will be the focus of a new course, Women Aspiring to Management, offered this fall at Belleville Area College.

The transfer credit course, taught by Karen Brown Anielak, will deal with topics such as career planning, time management for the working woman, and methods of coping with career and family.

Proper attire for professional work, tips on traveling, and the legal aspects of women in the working world will also be covered.

Jeffrey Slater, vice-president of the First National Bank of Collinsville, will teach a course in personal finance offered for the first time this fall at the college. It will deal with preparing personal financial statements, budgeting, investments, home buying, will and estate planning, income tax preparation and dealing with inflation.

Patricia Brian, director of the Every Woman's Center, said the courses may prove especially helpful for clients of the center. EWC offers guidance and counsel for people going through changes in their lifestyles and careers, particularly displaced homemakers.

Women Aspiring to Management—Business 290—will be taught on the main BAC campus in Room 290 on Thursday evenings. Personal Finance—Business 117—will be taught in Room 290 on Thursday. The time for the courses, each of which carries three regular college credits, is 7 to 9:45 p.m.

Students may register for these and all other credit courses by telephone at 255-7900 through Aug. 15 and in person at 2500 Carlyle Road through Aug. 19. Registration hours are from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. except on Fridays, when registration ends at 3:30 p.m.

BAC fall classes will start Aug. 25.

10th burglary at trailer site

Entry was gained by cutting padlocks off the doors. Taken were insulation knives, a double scabbard, six sets of vice grips, a 12-foot tape and a bolt bag with an estimated value of $100.

A spokesman for the firm said it was the tenth recent burglary at the construction site.

Secretaries enroll Mrs. Kathy Smith

A meeting Thursday night, marked the beginning of a new business year for members of the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association (International), and was highlighted with the formal initiation of Mrs. David (Kathy) Smith as a new member. Mrs. Smith was presented with a red rose, the association flower, after the ceremony by President Twila Edmonds.

Other new offices participating in the meeting included Mrs. Mary Cain, Ralston Purina Company vice-president; Mrs. Marabeth McConnell, Granite Sheet Metal Works, corresponding secretary; Nancy Bezan, Lindsay Construction, recording

Following the office reports, the meeting was opened to the audience for a "brainstorming" session. Topics covered included suggested speakers, meeting locations, ideas for gaining new members, committee assignments, and attendance at out-of-town events, such as the Leadership Clinic in August and the Great Lakes District Conference in October.

The chapter publication, "NSA Notebook", was discussed, and the members participated in a quiz contest in the publication entitled "Let's Get Acquainted."

All programs and efforts will be directed towards gaining new members, with special emphasis placed on each member to bring a guest to the next meeting scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 4. Membership Chairman Kathy Smith urged each individual to concentrate on candidates who would qualify for membership, as this promises to be an active and productive year for the Chapter. Any local secretary interested in learning more about the NSA organization is invited to call Mrs. Smith at the office (451-7431) or home (344-8172).

G. While visiting a friend and his wife on a trip this summer it was mentioned they each had safe deposit boxes. Isn't this a waste of money? A. No. It's becoming a fairly common practice for both the man and wife to have individual safe deposit boxes. The primary motivation for the separate boxes comes from recommendations by estate planning counselors who realize that laws in most states requires the safe deposit box to be immediately sealed of someone who dies. Although this may create only a week or so of inconvenience, it often prevents the surviving spouse from getting documents that may be needed at once. It can be more convenient to keep your will and insurance information in your spouse's safe deposit box and hers in a box in your name.

Former pen pals are reunited in person

By VALERIE EVENDEN of the Press-Record

Lily (Brown) Jackson of Sunderland, England, was curious what had happened to her former high school pen pal of more than a quarter-century ago, so she tried to locate her by writing to the mayor of the town where her friend had attended school.

Mrs. Jackson knew her friend's maiden name, Mavis, and that she had married a man with the last name of Vaughn.

By a lucky coincidence, the mayor she wrote to was Granite City Mayor Paul Schulz, whose partner in Midtown Pharmacy is Don Vaughn, husband of the former Vivian Mavis.

"Paul came right over with the letter and Lily and I began corresponding again after 27 years," Mrs. Vaughn said Thursday.

That was early last year. For the past three weeks, Lily and her husband, Bill Jackson, have been guests of the Vaughns at their home on Northland Drive.

While here, Lily and Bill celebrated their 28th wedding anniversary. They are the parents of two married children, both in England. The Vaughns, married for 27 years, have a married daughter, a 19-year-old daughter in college and a son, 6 years old.

"It has been a marvelous experience. We have all enjoyed it," Mrs. Vaughn commented.

"They were very interested in how Americans live their everyday lives, so they were quite content to stay here (in the Granite City area) and we have introduced them to as many of our friends and family members as possible.

The pen palship started when a group of students at Granite City High School were given a list of names of young people overseas who wished to correspond with an American student.

This was in the late 1940's. The former Vivian Mavis and the former Lily Brown began writing to each other and they continued their friendship by letter until 1963, at which point they lost contact.

"We both married about that time," the local woman said.

Referring to the extremely high temperatures this area has experienced in the three weeks the English couple has been visiting here, Mrs. Vaughn commented, "I think they have managed very well."

The temperature in midsummer is usually between 65 and 75 degrees in the part of England in which the Jacksons reside, and 75 degrees is considered "hot," Mrs. Vaughn explained.

"We went to the Gateway Arch and the St. Louis riverfront one day and it was 100 degrees," she noted.

"We told them it was going to be warm before they came. But we didn't know how warm."

Jackson is a long-distance truck driver who hauls medical supplies to various points in the British Isles, including Scotland.

His wife is a supply inspector with the same business firm.

"Hopefully, in a few years, we can visit them in England," Mrs. Vaughn said. "We've always planned to make a trip to Europe one day."

Vaughn owns and operates Vaughn's Pharmacy, 1838 Delmar Ave., in addition to being in partnership with Mayor Schulz in the Midtown Pharmacy, 2057 Johnson Road.

Progress made by General Assembly in improving state's negative image on worker compensation costs

Illinois General Assembly deliberations are frequently caused and discussed in negative terms, but virtually everyone seems to be voicing praise for legislators' 1980 revision of workmen's compensation. Springfield Scene comments that "the seemingly impossible became a reality this session when both houses of the Illinois legislature—as well as both parties—united in eleven-hour negotiations and produced meaningful improvements in the state's Workers' Compensation Act."

"The action opens the door to long-awaited reforms in the WC field and is the first step in putting Illinois back into the competitive arena with other industrial states."

The new bill, House Bill 3256, becomes effective as soon as Governor James Thompson signs it, except for some provisions that have later effective dates precisely designated.

Permanent partial disability (PPD) benefits are brought under some control by three changes:

1. The maximum weekly benefit, based on 100 percent of the statewide average weekly wage (SAWW), now $269.21, will be frozen for three years after the Jan. 1, 1980, calculation of the SAWW. Thereafter, it will be increased annually in proportion to the SAWW.

2. The minimum PPD benefit for specified fractures or loss of certain organs is reduced by 90 percent. For example, the mandatory minimum permanent partial disability award for any facial bone fracture will now be two weeks instead of 20 weeks.

3. The Illinois Industrial Commission will be able to order an impartial physical or mental examination to help determine the claim brought before it. The doctor will be selected by the commission from a panel offered by the Illinois State Medical Society.

Standards for hearing loss are specified in the new legislation. The noise level for causing hearing loss is 90 decibels; the degree of hearing loss is 30 percent, the range of 30 to 85 is the three frequencies of 1,000, 2,000 and 3,000 hertz, with a 1.82 percent multiplier. Hearing loss established prior to July 1, 1975, is excluded.

Accidental injuries, resulting from voluntary recreational activities (such as athletic events, parties and picnics) and drug or alcohol rehabilitation programs are excluded from coverage. Free choice of medical services by the employee is limited to two such choices. In injury. Thereafter, the employer may choose. Referrals do not count against the limit.

The wage benefit was based upon which the WC benefit is based is redefined—part-time and casual workers will receive benefits in relation to their actual earnings; volunteer firemen, police and civil defense workers will get benefits based on their regular employment elsewhere.

Commission decisions will establish precedent as of Jan. 1, 1981, regarding any conclusions of law. Beginning then, its decisions must be written and must set forth the reasons for the decision. Arbitrator decisions must also be written from that date, but will not be precedent-setting.

Attorneys' fees are limited in an effort to conform to the legislative intent of "encouraging settlement and prompt administrative handling of claims, thereby reducing expenses to claimants."

Two or more employers with "similar risk characteristics" may be eligible to pool their liabilities for the purpose of qualifying as a group self-insurance without an election if the Illinois Department of Insurance. Self-insurance service agencies must be licensed under the Illinois Insurance Code.

The agreed bill was adopted with only one dissenting vote in the Senate and only two negative votes in the House (158-2 in a 172-member body).

Those sharing in the commendations for their roles in developing the agreement were House Majority Leader Madigan, House Minority Leader Ryan, Senate President Rock, Senate Minority Leader Shapiro, Industrial Commission Chairman Rebecca Schneiderman and members of Gov. Thompson's staff. Members of the conference committee included Rep. Jim McPike of Alton.

The focus has been numerous expressions of hope that worker compensation costs can now be stabilized—rather than soaring steeply upward in a manner more or less unrelated to actual need. The catastrophic late-1970s trend had been ruining the state's attractiveness to new and existing industries and the jobs they provide.

Hazards from river tie-up show need for 2 new locks

Comment by Alton Telegraph — Evidence that the original Lock and Dam No. 26 can't handle anything like the emergency traffic occasionally imposed upon it has had occasion to pile up recently.

Most of this type of development has been reserved for winter, when ice creates traffic emergencies along the deep waterway below the Mississippi-Illinois River confluence and above the Missouri River.

Right now, the emergency is occasioned by lack of rain and shallowness of the channel.

Just in time to greet the upturn in shipping occasioned by the wheat harvest, the Mississippi has reached a low stage. This in turn forces barges to spread out their shipments over more barges as a means of reducing the draft.

Problems related to the present backup are the storage near residential areas of fuel and chemical barges, and the intense collection of diesel exhaust fumes from the many towsboats awaiting lockthrough.

Unfortunately, low river conditions make it difficult for the deep draft barges with big loads to be stored anywhere but along the deeper channel, which is along the Great River Road.

The focus on many backed up barges makes nearby residents more aware of what might be in the barges. Normally, their river views are serene and peaceful.

More barges represent more traffic—whether the number of tows is larger or not. At least for the Alton locks, the greater number of barges forces tows to split up and places an additional premium on lock capacity. Passage of larger tows would enable handling of more traffic faster.

We hope the Corps Engineers and federal purse squeezers take a full look at this situation as it applies to the single-lock concept now embodied in plans for the new locks.

These observers also should consider current existence of a double locking system, twice the size of the present Alton facilities.

Already established by the canal at Hartford-Granite City is the concept of two large locks—no, 1,000 feet long, the other 600.

What goes through the Alton locks could hardly be any less of a load.

SCA will restore levee

The Milan-East Division of SCA Services has agreed to restore a Metro-East Sanitary District levee from which dirt was taken for landfill cover over the past year, it was announced last week.

In addition to restoring the levee, which is in St. Clair County, SCA has agreed to accept full responsibility for any flooding which may occur during the reconstruction of the levee or the damages the reconstruction may cause.

The levee will be restored to U.S. Army Corps of Engineers specifications and SCA will pay about $6,000 in engineering costs for designing the levee.

SCA also will pay the sanitary district $100,000 for the damages and will pay the district's attorney, John Sprague of Bellevue, attorney fees of one third of the cost of restoring the levee, a spokesman for the sanitary district's board of directors said.

OKs insurance on malpractice

Governor James R. Thompson has approved legislation to provide medical malpractice coverage of up to $500,000 for each occurrence for medical professionals who are licensed by the state.

The self-insurance measure for the state, Senate Bill 2001, was introduced after an Appellate Court opinion holding that state employees are not covered by sovereign immunity from medical malpractice cases.

Coverage for state-employed physicians is retroactive to July 1, 1980, the effective date the Illinois State Employees Insurance exchange ceased its malpractice insurance for these physicians.

Zoning ordinance to Ex-Madison man becomes big game hunter without trying

The proposed new land use and zoning ordinance for Granite City will be the only topic of discussion at city's Plan Commission meeting at 1:15 p.m. Thursday in the city council chambers in city hall.

The 67-page document first was presented to the Plan Commission by city council and commission members said they felt that more commercial categories are needed.

The zoning ordinance has been under revision since that time and the revised version is to be studied Thursday.

The Plan Commission hopes to make a recommendation to the city council on the new zoning document in the near future.

But that's exactly what happened about 30 days after the former resident, with his wife, Marina, and young son, Alex, took up residence in Reynolds County, Mo.

Aroemena shot and killed a six-foot-tall, 200-pound black bear on his property after the animal was spotted by a visiting nephew, Clyde Gott, in which Aroemena, who was walking on the farm property.

Gott, who became frightened at seeing the bear, called the police.

Frank Greenwald, 59, a Granite City postman for 33 years, won the hog calling contest Sunday at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield. He was attired in overalls and a straw hat for the occasion.

Nominations will be accepted in writing until 5 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 16, for three Madison County positions on the Health Systems Agency board of directors. The election will take place at the fifth annual meeting Oct. 15.

R. Dron Electrical Co., Granite City, is the low bidder at $87,335 on building and installing traffic signals at Ill. Route 159 and Fairland Drive, Maryville; the advance estimate was $87,000. MacIair Asphalt Co., Collinsville, submitted the low bid of $1,318,332 to widen and resurface 4.30 miles of Ill. 157 from Highway 35 to Interstate 270; the estimated cost was $1,262,000.

A new state law gives non-home rule cities power to issue industrial revenue bonds for commercial purposes, as well as their own municipal bonds. Another law allows fire districts to provide ambulance service without an election if the districts do not exceed their existing taxing power.

James Furman, Illinois Board of Higher Education executive director for five years, will leave to join the MacArthur Foundation.

The Illinois Legislative Investigating Commission was created by two state regulatory agencies has allowed frequent patient abuse and neglect in some nursing homes in the state.

This metropolitan area is affected by a new state law slightly relaxing state air quality standards to encourage use of Illinois coal. The state standards are to conform to the federal Clean Air Act rather than being more stringent, but Chicago and Peoria are exempted from the relaxation.

Bill Mihl, Granite City resident, will be store manager of the new Schnuck Markets super center to be opened on Route 111 north of Route 143 in Wood River.

A one-day workshop, Stay in School Day, for Madison County youths aged 13 to 18 will be held Friday at Hawthorn Hall, Lewis and Clark Community College, Godfrey, by the County Economic Opportunity Commission and Concerned Citizens in Action.

A new three-year national agreement with telephone employees Saturday night boosts total compensation 34.9 percent.

Madison County began mailing yearly property tax bills Thursday afternoon. All 107,000 bills are expected to be in the mail by the end of this week.

The exercise yard at the new Madison County jail needs a screen over the top to avoid the possibility of prisoner escapes, a state inspection showed last week.

It also urged replacing metal support struts with steel bunks with material that could not be used as potential weapons.

Lloyd McBride, United Steelworkers president, urged at the 20th convention that the union support a strike against the new law.

With heat and higher fares blamed, Bi-State bus patronage dropped about 15 percent in July.

Personal income in Madison County in 1979-80 rose 108 percent to $8,148 a year per capita.

The temperature here has reached a record 100 degrees on 18 separate days this summer, including 100 Thursday, 102 Friday, 105 Saturday and 101 Sunday.

News notes

Illinois delegates to the Democratic national convention caucused Sunday in New York City and heard an appeal by Vice President Walter Mondale to back "unbroken and unbroken" voting, rather than an "open convention" in which delegates would select the candidate of their personal choice.

District Conservation Supervisor Tom May

who inspected the bear, said it may have traveled from the area from Arkansas, because of a tag on its ear.

Some years ago, the Arkansas Fish and Game Commission imported some black bears from Minnesota to stock their state areas, but the animals didn't care for their new surroundings and began traveling to cooler climates, May said.

The bear was sent to the University of Missouri at Columbia for analysis.

Anyone shooting a bear in Missouri can be prosecuted and receive a maximum fine of $500 and 90 days in jail. No decision was made in Alex's case, however.

Dig potatoes when tops die

Area Garden Adviser: Potatoes should be dug when the tops die or when the tubers are big enough to satisfy you. Dig when the soil is dry; then cleaning and handling will be easy.

A potato fork is a good tool for digging, but a plow, shovel, spade or hoe can be used. Many of the tubers will come out when the vines are pulled.

Potatoes that are reasonably clean need only to be cured before going to storage. Dirty potatoes can be brushed or washed before curing.

Curing is the process of drying tubers about a week at room temperatures and high humidity. This permits the healing of skinned areas and small cracks.

Cuts and roots will probably decay before going into storage. Keep in a dark room or cover with burlap bag while curing to keep the light from turning the potatoes green.

Once cured, the potatoes can be stored. The ideal storage is cool (40 to 45 degrees F.), dark and with relative humidity of 85 to 90 percent. A root cellar is the best location.

Because outdoor temperatures are so high this time of year, cool storage conditions are difficult to maintain. Garages and basements are poor alternatives.

So, strive for uniform temperatures as cool as possible, with darkness or reduced light. Don't store where the temperature rises to 80 or above during the day. Tubers should remain dormant or free from sprouting for about two months after harvest. Some early sprouting has occurred this year and this is due to the high temperatures.

Low-temperature storage is the best deterrent for sprout prevention for most growers.

Boy Scout jamboree registration due

The next National Boy Scout Jamboree will be held July 29 thru Aug. 4, 1981, at Fort A. P. Hill, Va., and according to Scout officials, space is filling rapidly.

Boy Scouts wanting to attend must have their application and $10 "hold-a-place" fee turned in to the Boy Scout Council, 2016 Delmar Ave., by Monday, Sept. 15.

A National BSA Jamboree

is held only once every four years.

There will be 36 Scouts and Explorers along with four adult leaders from the Cahokia Mound Council attending.

The Jamboree committee for the local scouts are: Jean Grimaud, chairman, Henry Helrick, Jim Johns, Les Becker, Lefty Stark, with Mark Brayer district scout executive acting as an adviser to the committee.

Local contractor is sued

S.M. Wilson & Co. of Granite City and H. K. Ferguson Co. of Ohio are defendants in a $5 million lawsuit filed in Bond County in connection with construction of a new plant for Carlisle Tire & Rubber Co. in Greenville, Ill., the Press-Record has learned.

The suit was filed by Carlisle Corp. of Delaware and the city of Greenville and alleges negligence by the Wilson and Ferguson firms in preparing the site for the new plant being constructed. The Ferguson firm was design and resident engineer for the plant. The Wilson firm was a subcontractor, performing the site work at a cost of $2.5 million.

It is alleged that after site footings were poured, the footings moved horizontally and vertically on the fill, placing stress upon the structural elements.

It is alleged the fill under portions of the building was "undercompacted" and settlement could be expected in the future which could damage the building's floor and structural elements.

Increased interest expenses and the costs of continuing construction by more expensive methods.

A jury trial is demanded in the suit.

The city of Greenville joined in the suit because the city obtained and Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) to finance acquisition of the project site and a portion of the cost of the site preparation.

Bob Bennett, president of S.M. Wilson, told the Press-Record Saturday that he is aware of the lawsuit, but does not wish to make any public comment on it.

Illinois Power changes plan for bond sale

Illinois Power Company has announced its intention to file an amended registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with its proposed offering of $125,000,000 of first mortgage bonds.

The purpose of the amendment is to change the method of offering from a competitive to negotiated basis. The First Boston Corporation and Merrill Lynch White Weld Capital Markets Group will be managing underwriters.

The proposed competitive offering had been originally scheduled for Aug. 12. The negotiated sale is tentatively scheduled for Aug. 13.

The net proceeds will be used to repay the outstanding short-term borrowings at the time of issuance of the bonds with the remainder applied to new construction.

The company is engaged in the generation, transmission, distribution and sale of electrical energy and the distribution and sale of natural gas in the state of Illinois.

Former friend strikes woman

Mrs. Sandra Jones, 2039a Grand Ave., told police at 3 p.m. Thursday that a former boyfriend had struck her, knocking her over the railing of a neighbor's porch, and taken $150 from her purse. Police said cuts and marks were visible on the woman's left arm and left leg.

The man is being sought.

RELEASED ON BOND
David W. Waynick, 26, of 2125 Benton St., was released at 7:35 p.m. Saturday on $204 cash bail after being charged with battery and criminal damage to property. He allegedly beat a former girl friend and damaged some of her property.

Three hurt on Madison Avenue

Three people were injured in the collision of two vehicles, one belonging to the U.S. Marine Corps, which occurred at 1:06 a.m. Friday in the 1800 block of Madison Avenue.

The accident involved a southbound vehicle, operated by Dana P. Crader, 35, of 2024 Collinsville Ave., Madison, which suddenly veered into the northbound lanes and collided with a U.S. Government AMC Concord driven by Roger W. Perkins, 24, of Alton.

Ambulances and the fire department rescue unit were called to the scene.

Perkins suffered possible internal injuries and a fracture of the left leg. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and admitted.

Crader, who was charged with careless driving, was admitted to the medical center for observation. He sustained lacerations to the face.

A passenger in the Crader auto, Mrs. Anita Champion, 29, of 1225 Twelfth St., also was admitted to the hospital for observation. She suffered a laceration to the head and abrasions to the right leg.

RELEASED ON BOND

Gary Don Lemons, 24, of St. Louis, was released on a $70 cash bond 3:15 a.m. Friday after being charged with reckless driving and the alleged possession of cannabis. Police said they saw a vehicle sliding at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue and stopped the car at 28th Street and Washington Avenue. Lemons was advised he was being charged with reckless driving and while doing a routine search police allegedly felt a bulge in his right sock and found a plastic bag containing what authorities believe to be cannabis.

July crime down in Madison

Major crimes in eight categories declined by 35 percent in Madison during July compared to July 1975, statistics revealed this week.

Burglaries decreased to nine last month from 24 a year ago, as auto thefts dropped from eight to only one.

Thefts were the same at 16 during both months.

There was only one robbery in each July.

The only increase was in assault and battery cases with eight in 1979 and 10 last month.

At last week's city council meeting, Madison Mayor Mike Sasek complimented the "fine work" of the Madison police.

Police Chief Donald L. Bridick praised the work of the officers and the cooperation the police are receiving from the public.

Designers Pick Pearls

Fall fashions were never prettier—or more perfect for pearls.

This fall, fashion's spotlight will focus on romantic, ruffled and laced high-neck blouses, American Preppy twin-sweater sets, soft and delicate angora and mohair sweaters. On the glamour side, center stage will be given to Hollywood-era suits and coats like the ones Lauren Bacall and Marlene Dietrich used to wear, or splendid extravaganzas inspired by the brilliance of the Hapsburg era.

Although styles and moods cover a wide spectrum, designers have found a strand to link them all: cultured pearls. No other jewelry seems more appropriate than a cultured pearl necklace to add sweet romanticism to ruffled and laced Victorian necklines. And, of course, a simple string of pearls is a must for twin-sweater sets. Classic suits call for the classic sophistication of cultured pearls, while the elegance and nobility of large, multi-strand pearl necklaces proclaim importance with luxurious evening gowns.

In fact, pearls are the most popular choice of most of America's fashion designers judging from their pre-season presentations recently.

The Coty-Award nominated Anne Klein collection by Donna Karan and Louis Del'Olivo, for example, uses pearls with almost every outfit. Matinee-length, graduated pearl necklaces grace twin sweaters and lace-collared, delicate knits. Opera-length necklaces are chosen for classic suits and shirts.

Designer Koos van den Akker, known for his unique collage fashions, uses the soft, glowing texture of cultured pearls to add another dimension to his mixture of fabrics. He uses tasseled cultured pearls on his knits, multi-strand freshwater pearls on his Victorian high-necked fashions, and simple, two-strand pearl necklaces with his signature collage suits.

Pearls are perfect for Halston, too. He uses large cultured pearls, in tones of grey, silver and rose, in jewelry strung and set to his own designs.

With all this emphasis on cultured pearls, 1980 promises to be the year that the United States becomes the world's foremost market for the sea-born gems. Until now, West Germany has had that distinction, but U.S. demand for cultured pearls climbed 60 percent last year and, so far this year, is now more than double that.
